Boise Bible College is about equipping leaders for the church!

Students of all ages have prepared for a life of ministry at BBC for the last 70 years! There is still time to sign up for classes in the fall semester. BBC is here to disciple and encourage your pursuit of ministry, no matter your vocation.

Consider starting with an evening class starting the end of August:
- Old Testament Introduction; Dr. Ben Williams - Tuesday evenings
- Urban Ministry; Curt Nordhielm - Tuesday evenings
- Foundations for Spiritual Growth; Danny Harrod - Thursday evenings
- American Sign Language; Mike Holman - Thursday evenings
- Introduction to Logos; Terry Stine and Curt Nordhielm - Thursday evenings

To finish an application today visit our website - www.boisebible.edu - and follow the links under “Apply Now.” Feel free to contact the Admissions team directly with your questions. Talk to Mike or Sara at (208)376-7731 or by email: admissions@boisebible.edu

Registration for classes starts on August 19, 2015. The dorms will be open, students will be arriving, and we will embark on a year of engaging with God, His word, and His people.

Apply by August 1 to beat the deadline.

God changes lives at camp! BBC has four student teams visiting camps and CIY conferences. Here are a few examples from our reps of how camper’s lives were touched after a week of camp and away from distractions...

Payton watched the girls at Silverlake Bible Camp find God as the true “picture” of a father who loves and cares, when their earthly parents do not. Caleb, at 4 Corners Camp, met a boy who found a new identity in God that shines through and gives him strength when others try to wear him down. At Camp Christian, Brittany had the opportunity to encourage a girl who was having a hard time moving forward in her faith. Mike Maglish (Admissions Director) spoke at Intermountain Christian Camp. The High School students discovered that God is a rescuer, and they committed to sharing that good news with at least five others.

Join BBC in prayer for the lives touched and changed at camp this summer. Pray for students as they equip for a life of Christian ministry and leadership.
BBC Faculty on the road and around the world

Danny Harrod is in Kenya visiting churches, and other ministries he helped establish several years ago. This is his report: “Today we met with 30 church leaders, prayed for workers and kids at a children’s home, met with teachers at the school they started and did some visitation of Kenyan families. God is blessing our time here beyond our expectations.” Danny is traveling with Mike Schrage of Good News Productions and president of ICOM 2016. Earlier this summer he visited a BBC alum, Tony Cole, who is serving with CMF in Tübingen, Germany.

Derek Voorhees spoke in Florida at a CIY conference for High School students, taught at a camp in Alaska, and then traveled on to Asia International Seminary (an “Asians for Christ” ministry) in Chiang Mai, Thailand. He is teaching an exegetical study on “Romans” to a group of pastors & leaders from Burma. This is the second year he has worked with this group of church leaders.

Russell and Amber Grove have been on the road teaching children & youth at three different camps. They were at a conference at WiNeMa over the Memorial Day weekend, they directed the children’s program at the Oregon Christian Convention, and are ending their summer travels teaching youth at Kootenai Camp in Montana.

Jessica Wilson traveled to the Seattle, Washington area to lead worship at a special service for Highline Christian Church in Burien.

Just released, “The Medal of Honor: Robert Maxwell Story.” This video is available free for your ministry and for congregations to use. Robert Maxwell is the oldest living recipient of the Congressional Medal of Honor, and sponsor of the Medal of Honor Scholarship at BBC. The video can be viewed at Vimeo.com/125098415

The Alexander Christian Foundation of Oregon has announced that four of our students are among their 2015 scholarship recipients. Quentin Byers, Isaac Williams, Katie Johnston and Mary Johnston will be blessed with funds to further their education and preparation for ministry at BBC.

It is our pleasure to partner with the ACF and their efforts to benefit Christian students who need help in order to attend Bible colleges.
